Soil: limestone, chalk, and clay

Size: 12Ha Location: Olonzac, Languedoc-Roussillon

Appellations Produced: Minervois, Minervois la Livinière

With the help of his family, Rémi Bonnet owns and makes the wine at Domaine Aimé. Rémi has taken an unusual path to become a winemaker. A path that has taken him from France, to working in French bistros in Manhattan, New York, and finally back to his home town. After all of the twists and turns he has taken in his life, Rémi is finally settled into a pastoral life at his family's domaine.

Located in Olonzac, in the heart of Minervois, the winery has been in the Bonnet family for generations. Rémi's father, a dentist, took care of the vineyards and sold the grapes off to a local cooperative. It wasn't until Rémi moved back to France that they decided to make, and bottle, their own wine.

While the winery is located in Olonzac, Domaine Aimé's 12 hectares of vines are situated in the northeast of Minervois in Cesseras. In addition to their regular Minervois, they also produce a Minervois La Livinière, which includes some of the most highly regarded terroirs in the entire appellation.

Minervois is an area of diverse geology which extends for about 37 miles between the towns of Narbonne and Carcassonne. The appellation itself is situated in the center of a great viticultural area, with Saint-Chinian to the east, Cabardès to the west, and Corbières to the south. All of Rémi's Minervois vines are located in and around the vineyards of Minervois La Livinière, which are the driest and hottest vineyards in Minervois. Luckily these hot days are tempered by cool nights. In the evening, cool winds drop from the hillsides of the Causse, cooling the entire area. The average rainfall is only 400 to 500 millimeters per year. This combination of hot days, cool nights, and low rainfall allows Rémi to produce rich, concentrated wines, without sacrificing balance and elegance. We feel truly fortunate that Rémi has returned home and brought to light these beautiful vineyard sites, by bottling and selling the wines from his family vines, for the first time.

100% Cabernet Franc

Domaine Aimé, Cabernet Franc 2009

Technical Notes: In 2009, for the first, time Rémi has produced a pure Cabernet Franc. After the grapes are harvested they are 100% destemmed, crushed, then fermented and aged in tank before bottling. The grapes are sustainably farmed, and vinified using indigenous yeasts. There is no oak aging for this wine.

Tasting Notes: This is a rich ripe Cabernet Franc, with none of the vegetal elements that one sometimes finds in cooler climate Cabernet Franc. The wine is deep dark purple color. In the mouth the wine is full of black fruit flavors, with hints of blueberry and plum. The finish is soft and supple with ripe tannins. This is an exceptionally easy wine to enjoy. It is silky enough to have on its own, but rich and complex enough to enjoy with a wide variety of dishes.
